M Chocolat: Sisters modernize store, manage growth with NCR Silver

When sisters Maritza Pichon and Marlena Snyder of M Chocolat needed to choose a POS system, they were a little intimidated. While experts in chocolate making, they lacked a familiarity with technology.

After extensive research, they chose NCR Silver Register™, an all-in-one POS. Loaded with useful business software out of the box, NCR Silver Register offers instant plug-and-play operability and ease of use.

"Technology was our least important issue when we started our store," said Pichon. "We started with a cash register where we had to manually add products. It was an absolute headache and was so complicated, we needed an IT person to come out and update it."

NCR Silver automates many of the manual processes associated with inventory management. With planning a key part of the sisters' requirements, NCR Silver now helps them see at a glance what is doing well, what is not, how much raw product to order, and how much they should make.

NCR Silver also provides entrepreneurs such as Snyder and Pichon more options for credit card processing like choosing the processor that works best for their business.

Operating more efficiently and the ability to easily sell at off-site locations has paid off for Pichon and Snyder, who now sell their sweets as guest vendors in gourmet specialty shops, local wine shops and at special events like food festivals and local races, in addition to their metro Atlanta location.

Simplified technology guaranteed to work

NCR Silver was built around simplicity and ease of use for all types of businesses - from food truck operator to multi-site retailer. However, this does not mean that we sacrifice your business uptime for simplicity. Even though NCR Silver is a cloud-based tablet POS solution, we also give you the ability to stay up and running – even if the Internet is down. And when you include the flexibility to choose the best operating system and hardware devices that work for your business, NCR Silver has what you need to take your business to the next level.

The right mix of technology and people

Successfully managing a business requires more than technology. And today you need the same tools as your enterprise counterparts to make smarter decisions.

That's where the Silver Concierge team steps in. This group of experts will work with you to efficiently set up your NCR Silver solution portfolio using your business's inventory, menus and data, – helping your business get up and running easier and faster.
